

FINAL ARGUMENT - A Legal Thriller (Clifford Irvings Legal Novels Book 2)

A selection of the Literary Guild and a New York Times best-seller. A courtroom thriller, a mean streets thriller, and an Everyman study of good and evil all rolled into one. And every part of it is terrific. What a wonderful piece of storytelling.-- Donald Westlake, The New York Times Ted Jaffe, a Florida district attorney, sends Darryl Morgan, a convicted murderer, to Death Row. Ten years later, now in a lucrative private practice, Ted returns to the same courtroom in a desperate attempt to save Morgans life. Connie Zide, the widow of the murdered man, a beautiful older woman whom Ted has loved previously with a rare passion, stands in his way. A masterly tale of murder, courtroom justice, marital love and infidelity, FINAL ARGUMENT is set among beachside multimillionaires and features the rarest of heroes - a criminal lawyer with a conscience. Can Ted Jaffe represent a murderer he once prosecuted? The legal establishment wants to disbar him for it. Can Ted deal with his past loves and indiscretions? FINAL ARGUMENT is about his battle - at the risk of career, marriage, and personal safety - to free a man he believes he has grievously wronged. The London Daily Express hailed it as a spellbinding courtroom drama. Kirkus Reviews said: A potent threat to your reserves of midnight oil. Publishers Weekly wrote: This superior thriller is a top example of the genre. Only a handful of American authors have ever been able to transform murder and infidelity into poetry, and Clifford Irving is one of those writers ... Not to be missed - this book has best-seller stamped on every page.-- Donald Porter, Mystery News Clifford Irving owes me two nights of sleep. What a deep, rich, dazzlingly written novel. -- Ernest Lehman, author of THE SOUND OF MUSIC screenplay. Two cliffhanger trials, a moral crisis, romantic love, sexual issues ... its all here. -- Mail on
