

Three American journalists are thrust into a bewildering situation when they're hired by a TV newsmagazine produced in Europe for broadcast on PBS. They encounter a wealth of adventures as they roam the Continent covering news behind the headlines as well as colorful features -- stories dealing with everything from D Day and terrorism to Sherlock Holmes and Vincent van Gogh. The book deals with everyday life too -- what it's like to actually live in Europe -- and it's packed with Euro-facts not found in guide books.
