

About Death: Living Wills and Advance Decisions in the UK

This book will help if... ..you have seen a relative or friend die in distressing medical circumstances from an illness, an injury or simply from old age in a way that you don't want to happen to you. ...you would like to help your family or friends at the time of your death to make the arrangements you want for palliative care to relieve pain and other distressing symptoms. ...you want to find out about how the NHS can make it easier for people to have palliative care at home or in care homes in the community where they live. ...you want to know how a Do Not Attempt to Resuscitate agreement works. ...you want to write an Advance Decision to come into effect in the future, if you become terminally ill and lose mental capacity and are no longer able to take part in decisions about your medical care. ...you are interested in why assisted suicide remains against the law. ...During the course of her career the author Hilary Page worked as a General Practitioner, a Director of Public Health and as a physician in the NHS Executive. The book contains her own Living will - an Advance Decision and a Statement of Values.
