EXOTIC PALM SPRINGS, CALIFORNIA This desert getaway offers a European-style village, Mid-Century Modern architecture, great food, spectacular hiking and golfing, affordable intimate lodging, and a star-studded past. Lying just two hours east of Los Angeles or San Diego, and a one-hour flight from San Francisco, Palm Springs has long been the favorite hideaway of Hollywood stars. Set amidst a breathtaking mountain backdrop, the European-style village welcomes hikers, golfers, spa enthusiasts, or simply anyone wishing to relax. Palm trees, swimming pools, street markets, outdoor restaurants and cafes, and Mid-Century Modern architecture abound. Choose from dozens of stylish yet affordable unique intimate lodgings. There's plenty to see and do, too - a revolving aerial tramway, vintage furniture shops, art galleries, a casino, native American culture, and former Hollywood stars homes. AUTHOR: Suzanne Hogsett is a self-confessed travel addict and world explorer who has ventured into 49 states and 110 countries. She authored two travel books, taught a wide array of travel classes, and created customized itineraries for 22 years.
