Do you, or your family or friends, follow a special diet for food allergies, intolerances, or even heart health? You're not alone, although it can sometimes feel as if you are the only one not eating at a holiday party or other celebration. As a pharmacist, allergy sufferer, and mom to children with a variety of food allergies, I've been there, too. My family and I designed the recipes in Kitchen Adventures with ingredients straight out of a typical kitchen pantry---fast enough for a weeknight, big enough for a crowd, and delicious enough to fool anyone who thinks allergy free means bland or boring. If celebrations seem off limits because of food allergies, intolerances, or health restrictions, try these delicious quick-mix recipes without top allergens and with healthy pantry substitutions instead. From cookout side salads to sweet treats, Kitchen Adventures has a new favorite for your next gathering.
