Score: 95, 4 stars Doodys Seminal reading for anyone working in trauma, mental illness, addiction and domestic violence--5 stars --Amazon This volume continues to be a tour de forceAa must for any professional library. --Beverly Greene, PhD, ABPP With its focus on the connection between health and mental health symptoms, this seminal, groundbreaking work continues to forge new directions in the field of domestic violence. Describing a condition that is the basis for the battered woman defense--cited in cases of psychically and psychologically abused women who have killed their abusers--it continues to be used as a defense to explain premeditated assault or murder. Completely updated, the fourth edition reflects the significant changes in the field since the book was last published, incorporating ACA Guidelines on Health Care and Domestic Violence and data from the Adverse Childhood Experiences Study. It examines new research regarding battered women in other countries and multicultural groups, and includes several new chapters addressing issues ranging from murder-suicide in domestic violence cases to proposed legislation and Congressional resolutions. The fourth edition provides new findings worldwide that reinforce the cycle theory of violence. It reflects new research on traumatic responses, and addresses Trauma-Informed and Specific Psychotherapy, information from government task forces regarding children exposed to violence and juvenile justice, and new findings regarding the application of psychology to the legal system.
